

so they say that the only thing FM radio has is it's local programming? how about the fact that it's free??? not everyone in america is willing to pay for a radio broadcast, there's no way that people could stop listening to fm radio altogether. besides, even if they did, it's constitutional, should our government decide what we're allowed to listen to?? if that's the case, we're no better than any county in the middle east that has media control, and we think we're so much better because we're free. yeah, i'm free. i'm free to listen to the weather in my car when i want to hear it. if that's a crime, you have my contact information, you might want to do something about it.

regulating a radio is bullshit, this whole debate is bullshit. it's about sore losers that don't understand how capitalisim works.
